

HOW ELKS WILL ARRANGE HOME

Double Parlor will become the Lodge Room and a Eutett will be located in the Easement on the West—Additional Room Gained by Removal of Servants' Stairs.

The following committee of Norwich lodge, No. 430, B. P. O. E., has been appointed by Exalted Ruler Frank G. Aubrey to have in charge the alterations and preparation of the Osgood residence on Main street as the Elks' home: Judge N. J. Ayling, J. J. Young, John A. Ansel, Thomas M. Shields, W. H. Murphy, William R. Stevens, Patrick Hayes, James Haskins and B. C. Hanna. The committee has selected Exalted Ruler Aubrey as its chairman and Mr. Shields as secretary.

A number of sub-committees have been appointed and the changes in the building to be made have been considered so that specifications are expected to be ready this week for bids.

In a general way the plans so far provide for clearing out the basement on the postoffice or west side of the building, where a room 40x30 can be obtained. This will be used for the buffet and will have a terrace floor. This room is now 7 feet between joists, but it is expected to make some changes that will get a height of 8 feet 4. A stairway which comes down into this space will be shifted from its present position. The committee in charge of preparing this room is merely to look after the flooring and getting the walls into shape for decorating. The fitting up of the room with bar and other fixtures will be in the hands of a special committee of which Past Exalted Ruler James P. Hayes is chairman, and the funds will be raised by special subscription. On the west side of the house is an ell which is to be occupied on all floors with toilets, shower baths, etc. On the basement floor the arched open space under the ell will be walled in. Throughout the house there are two sets of stairways, the front stairs and the servants' stairs. All the servants' stairways are to be taken out and the space gained added to adjoining rooms.

The two large parlors on the east side of the house will be the lodge room, and will be thrown into one room by the removal of the archway between them.

There is a special committee to look after the lighting arrangements, the painting, and the flooring. Suggestions made to the last named committee have been that they consider whether there shall be hardwood floors, carpets, or tiled floors with borders.

It is hoped to have the building ready for an opening in the fall.

SECOND DAY OF CELEBRATION.

drawing of all men unto himself proceeds, Jesus Christ is going to get the hearty allegiance of the kings of the earth. The men who can, i. e., the kings are going to keep step with Him, the King of Kings. The oil kings, the railroad kings, the steel kings, the sugar kings, and all men of might, who amass or handle wealth, are bringing themselves and all their wealth, and ask that both may be used by the church, at its suggestion, under its direction, according to its teachings received from God, for the uplifting of men.

Men and objects and institutions in which Christ is interested will also interest them. As stewards of the manifold grace of God that has enabled them to get riches, they will bring their gifts from every land, gold, frankincense and myrrh, and offer them to aid in the business venture of a Man whom God sent into the world to show men how to use it and not abuse it. The money power is going to be Christed together with all the other powers that can be utilized for the world's health. All wealth will, as its name suggests, serve the commonweal. The welfare of each and all, the Christian socialism, the sharing of the good things of life, will come to be dictated by the church, which with its Bible and its Christ and its complete of mighty men of wealth will not need the state to help it govern the world, but will be the fuller and later expression of what our founders sought to realize—a religious society and church-state.

Active and Altruistic.
I need not say that a church will be a serving church, a means to an end. It will have no glory of its own to boast of. It will glory in the privilege of doing good. A most active church will be the church that is to be, with a passion for altruism, a struggling for the life of others, only faintly exhibited in these days. Preachers and teachers who dwell on the great themes of redemption through Jesus Christ, will not forget how He saved the world, how He embodied sacrifice, and they, as well as the society that environs them, will be hurried along in the wake of, even if they do not originate, mighty movements of the saved to serve.

From the church is to proceed yet more clearly and powerfully the teaching that shall make society more Christian, that shall give chances for life more abundant to those who need them, that shall set the church well on its way to securing the evangelization of the world. Then the great movement that we call "The Social Gospel" shall move every man, and missions will stand forth as the great end of the church, and missionaries will be as common as men.

A Holy Church.
The Christian people, in Christian churches, will vitalize the people, put the spirit of Christ into all industry, and make the church that is to be a holy church. The church will stand forth as a representative of holiness, of the healthy Scriptural type. The attractive cleanness of righteous living will be exemplified in the more deeply consecrated lives of the church members. Sanctified will not be so much of a surprise. Those that are without, the peoples not yet brought into saving relations with the truth of Christ, will walk in the light of the gospel, and the service of God will be seen to claim everything and everybody. Goodness is contagious. The holy church throughout the world will not stand aloof by itself in solemn or glorious majesty. It will be the center and arbiter of all life. The marks of devotion will be on the persons and instruments of civilization. Holiness unto the Lord shall be written upon the bells of the houses, and the pots in the Lord's house shall be like the bells before the church. The church that is to be is going to see these things, because it will have a hand in bringing them to pass.

Prayer, Praise and Meditation.
And as these things are being fulfilled, men will veil their faces and worship. The sense of the inspiring God that breathes through the Scriptures, and breathes into every believer, the presence of Jesus Christ personally experienced in the heart, the flowing into the meeting house of earnest souls, both men and women, the mighty results seen in changed lives and changed communities as the result of the church's witnessing for Christ, the kings of the earth bringing their glory and honor into the new city of God, the spectacle of Jesus' servants being crucified with Him, for the truth's sake, and because they loved men, and the odor of real sanctity that fills heavenward day by day, from the world that is being saved, all these call for worship. There need be no fear that work will displace worship and that the church will become a workroom, a headquarters for committees. The people who have thus seen God face to face will have their Bethels, their chapels, their churches, and these will be for worship, still. It may be that the old world will renew its youth, and God be again conceived, as of old, as walking with men. Certain it is that as long as God and man shall come to know each other better and work together for the saving of the world, there will always be prayer and praise and meditation. The chant of praise, the anthem of thanksgiving, the carol of joy, the litany and the solemn supplication, the confession and the communion, will never be outgrown. They will survive the coming of all things. In the city of the redeemed there is no temple, no house of God, there are harps and golden vials and a new song and a new realization of the worth of spiritual things, as the ten thousand times ten thousand and thousands of thousands are heard "saying with a loud voice,

AFTERNOON RECEPTION.

Large Attendance from Three to Five o'clock.

At the reception on Monday afternoon from three to five o'clock for the guests of the 250th anniversary, the chapel of Zion Congregational church was decorated with an arch of dogwood, beginning in a cactus full of pink blossoms and ending in a cluster of large pink carnations. The carnations were presented to Miss Mary E. Wattles by the pupils of the Jewett City school. On the table where the punch was served were beautiful carnations shading from light to deep pink; these were given in person by Rev. Nelson Poe Carey.

There were many guests enjoying the beauty of the day and the greetings of old friends—those who had come from far and near to this anniversary.

YALE CREWS COMING TO GALES FERRY

Will Occupy Broadview June 1, a Week Earlier Than Usual.

Formal permission has been given the Yale varsity and freshman crews to go to their training home at Gales Ferry, above New London, on June 1. This is a week earlier than usual. The regatta with Harvard is not to be rowed until June 20, and the Yale oarsmen will have more than four weeks work on the Thames before their races are scheduled. The Harvard rowing squad will not come to their training quarters at Red Top, a mile down the river from Gales Ferry, until more than a week later, and the Yale rowing managers are happy in the prospect of longer time than usual to round up the oarsmen in development. Until this season three weeks' stay has been allowed the Eli rowers. They have gone to the Thames the day recitations closed and have taken their final scholarship examinations in camp at Gales Ferry. This year Yale university has put into effect a new calendar, and the college year will in consequence, close and recitations close a week earlier than before.

The varsity eight is composed as follows at present:

Stroke, Wells; No. 7, Captain Woodell; No. 6, Buckingham; No. 5, Van Sinderen; No. 4, Campbell; No. 3, Baker; No. 2, Thoker; and bow, Frost. Only Wells and Woodell of this eight were in the varsity boat last year. Baker captained the freshman and Frost stroked and captained the varsity four. The crew quarters at Gales Ferry are being overhauled in preparation for the reception of the oarsmen.

Capt. Fred Daly, Manager, Hincks and E. R. Thompson of Yale were at Gales Ferry Thursday for the purpose of ascertaining what arrangements could be made there for football practice. Owing to the delay in revising the rules of the game by the committee in charge, there has been but very little practice this spring. The accommodations at Gales Ferry are such it is thought advisable to secure a field there and have the Yale squad report there about the first of September for a month's workout.

The statement that John L. Boswell had transferred his home to Preston City is not so, as Mrs. Boswell states that they intend to make Norwich their home for the present, although they have sold their property in Lincoln avenue.

Revival services are being held every evening this week at the Grace Memorial Baptist church, being conducted by Rev. R. D. Chubb, the evangelist. The meetings are public and many are attending.
